Boutique Hotel & Restaurant

From Finca to Five Star The Pönzke family's dream becomes a reality

Mallorca. Just saying the name has a magical ring. On a map it doesn't look like much. A tiny spot in the Mediterranean. But a map never tells the whole story. Get closer and you discover a magical place with varied landscapes, each lovelier than the last. It is an island full of old-world charm, culture and mesmerizing traditions. In 1980 we visited for the first time and returned just one year later. Some years later we fell in love with the Tramuntana and its small towns Deia and Sóller and knew we wanted something more permanent.

In 1995 we decided to build a second home here and open a charming to become one-star restaurant, Ca's Puers, in the postcard perfect town of Sóller. We embarked on this journey with the guidance of the 'cook of the century' – Mr. Eckart Witzigmann. With the restaurant up and running we set our sights to a fantastic hilltop site where we created our vision of a five-star hotel 'Sa Talaia' which is known today as the Jumeirah Port Sóller Hotel & Spa.

In 1999 we had the great luck to discover a true Majorcan gem. Set among orange and olive groves sat a beautiful old oil mill in need of some loving. Through painstaking effort to preserve the charm of the past and using sustainable architecture we were able to create Boutique Hotel & Restaurant Cas Xorc.

Originally our vision for Cas Xorc was to create a 'think tank' but soon it became popular among a group of highly discerning travellers. News of our hotel spread by word of mouth and it became a haven for gourmets, people who appreciate quiet comforts, honeymooners, bikers, hikers and visitors of all kinds.

Today we make it our goal to ensure guests have a relaxing, restful and truly unforgettable stay. Welcome to our dream. Welcome to Cas Xorc.

Mallorca ist für uns eine liebenswerte Insel mit vielen Gesichtern, einer alten Kultur und Tradition. 1980 & 1981 besuchten wir Mallorca gleich zweimal nacheinander.

Einige Jahre später bereisten wir die besonders für uns reizvolle Tramuntana in Deia und Sóller. Von da an ließ uns die Insel nicht mehr los und 1995 entschieden wir, hier ein zweites Zuhause aufzubauen.

Es entstand ein bezauberndes Ein-Sterne Restaurant Ca's Puers mit der Handschrift des Jahrhundert-Kochs Eckart Witzigmann und der Plan, ein Fünf-Sterne-Hotel „Sa Talaia“ auf den Klippen oberhalb des Hafens von Porto Sóller zu bauen: das heutige „Fünf-Sterne-Plus Jumeirah Puerto de Sóller“ - Resorthotel.

1999 wurde das Kleeblatt der Träume und Visionen durch das Entdecken einer alten Ölmühle, das heutige Cas Xorc, perfekt abgerundet.

Durch eine liebevolle und vor allem nachhaltige Architektur und den Esprit von Eckart Witzigmann entwickelt sich Cas Xorc als Think Tank und Hotel. Beliebt bei Kennern und vielfach als Geheimtipp weitergegeben, wurde es zum Paradies für viele liebenswerte Hotel-Gäste, Restaurant-Besucher, Wanderer und Besucher aller Art.

Nicht nur von Hochzeitspaaren, Firmenveranstaltungen, Jubiläumsfeiern, Geburtstagsgesellschaften sondern auch von professionellen Fotografen als besonderer Ort mit einer unvergesslichen Magie überaus begehrt.

Unser Anspruch und Wunsch ist es alles Erdenkliche zu tun, damit unsere Gäste einen entspannten, erholsamen und unvergesslichen Aufenthalt in Cas Xorc erleben.

Discovering Cas Xorc with Eckart Witzigmann

As I entered this property on the slopes of the Tramuntana mountains in August 1999 for the first time with Klaus Plönzke, we found a finca in quite a desperate condition. With great care, preserving the original structure and charm, the object has been transformed to fit its present-day purpose. A strikingly beautiful country house arose with views of the sea, surrounded by orange, lemon and olive groves-. Today Cas Xorc is a hidden gem and one of my absolute favorite addresses in Mallorca. A rare Hideaway, as there are very few are on this planet, and from the very first moment you put foot on this ground you will feel the special atmosphere of this very special location.

Munich, February 2015

Als ich im August 1999 zum ersten Mal mit Klaus Plönzke das Grundstück am Fuße des Tramuntana Gebirges betrat, fanden wir eine Finca in desolatem Zustand vor. Mit großer Behutsamkeit und unter Bewahrung der ursprünglichen Bausubstanz wurde das Objekt seiner heutigen Bestimmung zugeführt. Es entstand eine bezaubernd schöne Finca mit Blick auf das Meer, umgeben von Orangen-, Olivenbäumen- und Zitronenhainen. Heute ist das Ca's Xorc ein Juwel und gehört zu meinen absoluten Lieblingsadressen auf Mallorca. Ein seltenes Hideaway, wie es nur ganz wenige auf diesem Planeten gibt, man spürt vom ersten Augenblick an die besondere Atmosphäre dieses Ortes.

Cas Xorc, a trailblazing boutique hotel opens in the heart of the Tramuntana Mountains

Fifteen years ago Cas Xorc opened its doors to the public. That day was the culmination of a lot of hard work. Transforming the skeleton of a once grand Majorcan finca into a luxury boutique hotel is not easy. The main challenge is finding the right balance between respect for the past with the need to offer clients the comforts of today.

Cas Xorc met this challenge head on. The nearly stone by stone, room-by-room restoration of the home has been called a masterpiece of rural hospitality design. Each room has been individually decorated and laid out out to highlight both their unique architectural details and the views of the surrounding countryside. Each of the common areas is designed to take full advantage of the Mediterranean light and their own timeless design. From the cutting edge infinity pool to the old-world charm of the restaurant in the olive press room, Cas Xorc has found the perfect balance between old and new.

Fifteen years ago the shell of a once glorious finca was transformed into a luxurious boutique hotel in the heart of Majorca's Tramuntana Mountains and with its opening Cas Xorc blazed the trail that others would soon follow on the island. Its unique combination of respect for the past and integration of state-of-the-art luxury gives new meaning to the term, Modern Classic.
